A top-down view of a meal on a white plate. The main dish is a whole fish, possibly sea bream, covered in a thick, vibrant red tomato-based sauce with visible green herbs and onions. To the left of the fish is a portion of fluffy white rice, garnished with fresh green coriander leaves and sliced green onions. To the right of the fish are several slices of golden-brown fried plantains. In the top left corner, a small white bowl contains more white rice, also garnished with green onions. A silver fork is placed on the rice. The background shows a dark blue-grey cloth and another plate with more food on the left.
